

Project Proposal Presentation Guidelines

Presentation Guidelines:

Next week, your team needs to give a presentation on the initial project proposal. You need to follow these guidelines -

1. Prepare a slide. You will get enough time (5-10 minutes). All the team members should present something.
2. Start with the motivation behind this project. Why do we need this product? What are the other alternatives? Is it solving any real-life problem?
3. Include detailed diagrams for the complete system and all subsystems.
4. Explain the functioning of the complete system and all subsystems.
5. Try to draw some diagrams of the final product/ show different layouts of the systems.
6. Use some flowcharts to show different processes.
7. You need to show me work progress every week. Therefore in the presentation, it is mandatory to mention weekly milestones. Like in week 5, we will deliver the login page. In week 7, we will connect to the database, etc.
8. Some of you need to learn a new programming language. Please add this to the learning phase. If you want to learn python for your project, Allocate two weeks for it, and from week 5, you need to start the project. But in this learning phase, you need to show me what you are learning. If you think you have the essential skills, start coding.
